Discover My Meaningful Work

Discovering my Meaningful Work:

"Your work is going to fill a large part of your life and the only way to be truly satisfied is to do what you believe is great work. And the only way to do great work is to love what you do." - Steve Jobs

Step 1 -List of Skills and Talents

Things I'm naturally good at	Things I have become good at through repetitive effort	Skills I have learned at prior jobs	Things I learned at school through courses	Things I enjoy doing in my spare time
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>•</li><li>•</li><li>•</li></ul>

Step 2 – Underline the items on the lists that you believe are marketable.

Step 3 – Make a check mark next to the ones you use on a regular basis, whether in your work or personal time.

Discover My Meaningful Work

Step 4 – If any of the skills on your list are not things you truly ENJOY doing, cross them off the list and do not consider them as career candidates. That doesn't mean you'll never use those skills, just that they won't be your main focus. A good example might be bookkeeping or accounting skills that you use in your day job. You may be good with numbers but if working with them doesn't thrill you and move you, you should simply consider it an additional tool that can help with your work.

Step 5 – Transfer all of the skills/talents that you have identified that you use often and enjoy doing.

Transfer items that you checked ✓	How can I enhance or expand that skill/talent?
Things I have always wanted to do but haven't.	Are there classes or courses related to these things? Could they lead to job opportunities?

If you do what you love, you'll never work a day in your life."
